Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Saturday 20 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain spreading north. Strong to gale force winds developing.

Today:
Some early bright or sunny spells across north Highland and the Northern Isles, otherwise cloud thickening from the south with outbreaks of rain, the rain turning heavy and persistent at times. Winds becoming strong to gale force. Mild.

Tonight:
Windy with rain or showers through this evening, severe gales possible over the Western Isles. Drier and clearer overnight with a few showers across the northwest.

Sunday:
A bright day with some sunny spells. It will be dry for most, although a few showers continuing across the northwest where in will be windy.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Dry and bright with sunny spells on Monday. Turning wet and windy on Tuesday, gales or severe gales around the coast. Further rain on Wednesday, but drier in the north.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.